LUKOIL CONTINUES COOPERATION WITH INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION

Representatives of LUKOIL met with senior officials of the International Labor Organization (ILO), in Moscow today.

Yury Pikhtovnikov, Head of the Organizational Development and Career Management Department of LUKOIL, and Heinz Koller, ILO Regional Director for Europe and Central Asia, discussed issues of further interaction, including development of the cooperation under the Youth Employment Partnership Project for the CIS countries.

During the discussion, Mr. Koller mentioned the considerable contribution that LUKOIL is making in solving the problem of youth unemployment, noting that the valuable experience gained in this joint project is relevant and useful for the employment markets of many countries and regions of the world.

Information:
The International Labor Organization is a specialized agency of the United Nations in charge of regulating labor relations. Today, the ILO brings together 187 member states. In 2012, LUKOIL became the first Russian company to sign an agreement with the ILO.
